

Blocking below the spatial support of the features does not reduce leakage

